Lions Drama Festival To Play Two Nights, Thursday And Friday, April 26 And 27

Cardston, Lethbridge and Bellevue-Hillcrest Send Entries;
Nanton Club Unable to Compete;
Heavy Ticket Sale Seen.

Coleman Lions fourth annual Drama Festival will be held in the Community hall next Thursday and Friday, April 26 and 27. Three plays will be dramatized each evening. It had originally been intended to run the festival over three nights, but the unexpected withdrawal of the two Nanton entries reduced the entries from eight to six. Nanton's withdrawal was due to unforeseen circumstances.

The adjudicator is Mr. Sidney Risk, B.A. M.A. drama supervisor for the Extension Department, University of Alberta. In addition to the best acted play awards will be made for the best male and female performances.

Mr. Risk, who received his MA in theatre, production from Cornell university, was five years director for the Players' Club at the University of British Columbia and was five years on the professional stage in England. He did post-graduate work for one year at Cornell university on a Rockefeller Foundation Scholarship, during which time he was also technical director of the Cornell university theatre. He is a member of the theatre staff of the Banff School of Fine Arts.

Cardston club, with two strong plays, made an outstanding contribution to last year's festival, and were highly praised by the adjudicator. Their brilliant performances make them very popular with the audiences.

The hand of cordial friendship is once again extended to Rev. Wm. Irwin and his Bellevue-Hillcrest players. They have had a play entered since the festival first started in 1942. In 1943 their sterling acting won them the Lions shield.

Coleman Drama Club's entry won the first drama festival in 1942. It failed to enter the 1943 festival, but came back strongly in 1944 and will again be seen this year.

Coleman Players have entered continuously since 1943. Their magnificent performance in 1944 won them popular acclaim from the audience and also won them the Lions shield. They will enter a strong play next week.

Lethbridge club will play here for the first time and are a most welcome addition to the festival.

Plays

"Kee-Kee," a fantasy by the younger children, Bellevue-Hillcrest.

"Dark Wing," a drama, by Cardston club.

"Low Life," comedy, by Coleman Drama Club.

"To Die With a Smile," drama, by Cardston club.

"Nellie McNab," a farce comedy, by Lethbridge club.

"He," a drama, by Coleman Players.

Ticket Sale

For the convenience and comfort of the public all seats have been reserved and ticket sale is at Coleman Pharmacy.

No seating of late arrivals will take place during progress of a play. This in fairness to all competitors and audience.

Sports Association Held Semi-Annual Meeting, Sunday

Better Than Average Attendance
Heard Committee Reports;
Try to Secure Ski Run.

A goodly number of Sports' Association members attended the semi-annual meeting of the association in the Community hall last Sunday evening. A. A. Fraser was chairman.

The president's and secretary's reports and financial statement were heard, the latter statement being authorized to be published in The Journal.

Upon discussing the sports field it was decided that further improvement be made, the expense to be determined by the committee. It was decided to incorporate the tennis courts into the association.

The committee charged to bring in a report to the meeting on facilities available to enable the sponsoring of roller skating had been prevented from gathering a full report due to snow conditions during the past few weeks. The committee will complete their investigations and report to the association.

Organizations sponsoring the pee wee hockey clubs will be sent a letter by the association asking them to sponsor football clubs for the youngsters.

A committee is to be appointed to approach the government for a ski run and suitable cabin site. These two concessions are to be secured at no expense to the association.

It was agreed that steps should be taken to interest sportsmen in forming a "X" lacrosse league. At conclusion of the meeting a vote of thanks was given to the association's committee members for a fine job during the past six months.

Help your country to victory—enlist, now!

Coleman Unit In Readiness For Opening Gun To Launch 8th Victory Loan; Canvassers Optimistic

Zone organizer Jack Walker addressed Coleman War Finance organization on Tuesday evening and gave last minute instructions to canvassers before they launched the Eighth Victory Loan in Coleman. Also addressing the canvassers was Unit Organizer Frank Abousafy.

Coleman's quota, released this week, showed a boost of $20,000 over the Seventh Loan, it being $125,000 against last Fall's quota of $105,000.

Citizens may expect the same canvassers that have been selling them bonds in past loans to call again this time.

To give one some idea of the magnificent job local citizens and canvassers are doing it is actual facts that in the Seventh Loan $45 out of 1,050 wage earners bought a bond, an average of 1 in 3.8 of the town's population.

The most marked improvement of any unit, city or rural, in the province was made by Coleman in the Seventh Victory Loan when it boosted its purchasers by 209 over the 636 purchasers recorded in the Sixth Loan. This achievement was so brilliant that it even drew comment from the provincial executive.

Show to Start at 8:15 in Palace
Theatre; Supply of Films Being Brought From Calgary.

Instead of the usual concert which has preceded all past loans in Coleman the publicity chairman has arranged for a show at the Palace theatre this Sunday at 8:15 p.m. In addition to the screening of a number of exceptionally good films which depict Germany, the fighting fronts and other pertinent topics of the war, the local committee has marked the services of

Abousafy's Store To Have Opening Of New Ladies' Ready- To-Wear Department On Saturday

Newly Renovated Basement
Has Very Smart and Colorful Appearance; Wide Display of Young Misses' and Matrons' Clothing.

On Saturday the Pass' smartest ladies' ready-to-wear department will have its official opening in the newly renovated basement of F. Abousafy's store.

The new department's quarters is really a beauty spot. A wide staircase leads to the lower floor, the steps to be covered shortly with inlaid linoleum. The walls have been arched with space being left for two dressing rooms. A full length mirror forms a door to one of the dressing rooms. The concrete floor has been painted in brick tile. The walls and ceiling are in brilliant white. Fluorescent lighting lends its support to colorful harmony between the white walls and ceiling and the red colored brick tile paint on the floor.

As one descends the staircase they walk past an alcove in which is displayed a lady's blouse. In the arched sections colorful dresses, skirts, boucles and coats are on display. On the floor a circular skirt and blouse rack is filled to capacity with ladies' wear.

Accommodation has been made for the acquisition of household furnishings, such as drapes, etc., once they come back on the market. The department is quite radical and undoubtedly is the most beautiful and aggressive seen in the Pass in many years. Ladies throughout the Pass are cordially invited to visit the department during its official opening and browse around.

Councillor Cox Calls For Beautification of Cemeteries; $200 Granted to Aid in Work

Future Budgets to List
Cemeteries' Grant; New Town
Found Located in E. Coleman.

Regular meeting of the council was held on Monday evening. Present Mayor Abousafy, Councillors Cox, Dutil, Jenkins, Ramsay and Wilson.

The new town pound has been located in East Coleman. Pound fees are one dollar per day per animal, with the exception of a stallion or bull, when the daily fee will be $5.

An effort will be made to have the provincial government pay on a 50-50 basis the fee of $80 given the local nuisance ground caretaker. At the present time the town pays $60 and the government $20.

The provincial government will be asked to clean out Nez Perce creek from the CPR tracks up to the bridge at DeCocco's residence on Third street.

Town foreman Joe Malanchuk has informed council that it is his opinion improved drainage can be given those residences on Second street west. This work has been placed in his hands.

Councillor Wilson reported on the meeting held last Sunday to formulate plans for the visit of the TB X-ray Clinic to Coleman.

Provincial Sanitary Engineer Menzies visited Coleman last week. He will send from Edmonton Sanitary Inspector Butterfield who, in company with Police Chief Antle, will inspect homes alongside the river in Willow Drive and tell residents where they must locate their outhouses.

Mayor Abousafy stated that Mr. Menzies' chief reason for visiting Coleman was to interview coal company officials on the dust nuisance. Before leaving Coleman Mr. Menzies assured the Mayor that steps would be taken to eliminate the dust nuisance as much as possible, but that the council should not expect radical improvement within a few weeks or even a few months, as it would take some considerable time to determine the most adequate machinery and then install it.

BELLEVUE LIONS HELD CHARTER NIGHT BALL

On Wednesday evening in the Oddfellows' hall, Bellevue Lions held their Charter Night ball.

Many were present from Pass towns and witnessed the club receive its charter from District Governor Phil Baker, of Lethbridge, and which was received on behalf of the club by President Al. Hayson.

Following a banquet the gathering enjoyed dancing till the wee hours of the morning.

A. HOLLINGSHEAD ADDRESSES LIONS ON NEW HOSPITAL

Albert Hollingshead, of Hillcrest, vice-chairman of the Crows' Nest Pass Municipal Hospital, addressed the local Lions club on Monday evening on the proposed new hospital.

Mr. Hollingshead gave a summary of activities concerning the hospital from its start last August up to the present time. He stated that present war conditions were responsible for restricting the start of construction. Meech & Meech, of Lethbridge, had been engaged as architects and had so far submitted three blue-prints on the proposed structure. Mr. Meech had met the board and three Pass doctors at the week end when further changes were made to the plans.

In dealing with the site he stated the Department of Health had the final say, but was hopeful that the present site, as voted upon, would be the site on which the building would be constructed.

was discussed with Mr. Menzies. He along with the Mayor found an ideal drainage field immediately east of Coleman. The system in its initial stages will serve main and second streets. Mr. Menzies estimated the cost of the system at $10,000, which was considerably below the figure council had thought proper.

The Parks Committee again presented its proposals towards the Legion Memorial Park. It was stated that it had been originally intended to build the wall with voluntary labor, instead wages had been paid. It was suggested that some material be given towards the construction of the walls in lieu of money. No decision was arrived at.

The agreement between the council and the Legion on the Park was accepted with one exception, that being the matter of lights. This point will be further debated when the Park is more advanced.

Correspondence was received from the local hospital board, dealing with hospitalization of relief recipients. The letter was tabled.

A number of new street lights are being installed in various parts of town.

Medical health officer submitted his report for March.

Councillor Fred Cox brought up the matter of cemeteries. He stated that much needed work should be done to the two cemeteries and that a stipulated amount should be listed in future budgets, so that work on the cemeteries could be done each year. Discussion brought forth the information that cemeteries were allowed $200 yearly for their upkeep. Chairman Jenkins, and his committee of Fred Cox and Adam Wilson, will inspect the cemeteries once the weather clears and determine what improvements will be undertaken this spring and summer.

The four button traffic system will be given a try-out at the intersection between the post office and Coleman Cafe and Zak's and the Big Corner Store. If it proves successful it will be adopted throughout town.

Pte. Jesse Hirst Seriously Injured In Italy

Word was received on Wednesday by Mrs. Jesse Hirst that her husband had been seriously wounded on the Italian front. The wire revealed that he had been wounded in the stomach.

It is three years and eight months since Jesse, along with his brothers Bill and Fred and Jack Sudworth, left Coleman enroute overseas.

Everybody Welcome

Canada's Food Supply

SHORTLY AFTER CANADA ENTERED the war, the people were warned that they would be called upon to make many sacrifices, and that one of these sacrifices would involve a general lowering of the standard of living here. Since that time, labour shortages, the disappearance of the market of many luxury items, and numerous other wartime scarcities have touched almost every Canadian home, and there are few families today who have not in some way been affected by these restrictions. While spending power has been drastically curtailed in many ways, Canada's buying power was three billion dollars higher last year than it was in 1939. Since many of the normal channels of spending are now closed, statistics show that Canadians have been steadily increasing that percentage of their income which they spend on food.

People Now More Adequately Fed

Statistics for the year ending in November, 1944, showed that in that period wholesale grocers had sold twelve per cent. more groceries and ten per cent. more fruits and vegetables than during the preceding year. Most production in 1944 was the highest in our history, and in the 1943-44 crop year Canadian flour mills produced thirteen and a half million barrels of flour, which was also an unprecedented figure. In the case of both wheat and flour, which is exported and there has been a steady increase in the domestic demand for both these products. Nutritionists look with favour on this rise in food consumption in Canada, for it means that the people are being more adequately fed than they were in the pre war years, and this will, undoubtedly, favourably affect the standard of national health.

On Combined Food Board

There has been some discussion lately concerning the world food situation and Canada's part in feeding the less fortunately situated people of other countries. Canada has, all through the war, sent large shipments of food to the United Kingdom and to any other country where war conditions made this possible. Canadian farmers have done a magnificent task of not only maintaining but of increasing production in spite of serious handicaps in the way of labour shortages and scarcity of equipment. The people as a whole have cheerfully accepted such food rationing as has been necessary, and are fully aware that rationing and shortages of some supplies will in all probability continue long after hostilities cease. Canada, the United Kingdom and the United States have worked together on the Combined Food Board, the object of which has been to ensure as fair a food distribution as possible among all the Allied Nations. As more shipping space becomes available, and relief organizations extend their activities in liberated countries, food distribution will be carried out on an increasing scale, and Canada will no doubt play an important part in the effort to set up and maintain a high standard of nutrition throughout the world.

HOW YOU CAN GET QUICK RELIEF FROM SORE, PAINFUL PILES

Most people seem to think the only way to get relief from their sore, painful piles is by local treatment. Local treatment may give temporary relief from the itching, but you can easily see why such treatment will not cure the cause of your piles. No lasting freedom from piles can be obtained until the cause of the trouble is corrected. Piles are due to internal causes, so the best way to get lasting relief is to treat them internally with a medicine like Hem-Road. Hem-Road is a powerful, but gentle, formula which acts as a mild laxative to relieve the congestion that is the real cause of your piles. Hem-Road promotes free, easy and comfortable bowel movements, quickly relieves itching, irritation and soreness, and stimulates better blood circulation in the bowels, with good blood circulation in the bowels.

Thirty-Seven Blind People Work As River Sorters In British Factory

A Southampton works manager told a Labor exchange official that he needed river sorters. "I could do the job with my eyes shut," he said. When the official suggested blind persons he was rather incredulous, but agreed to give two blind workers a trial. After a fortnight he returned and asked for more and now has 37 blind people at work. "It is we who have been blind," is his comment.—London Daily Sketch.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—A few years ago I used to be able to buy small tins of meat sandwich spread. They were so handy because they were just the right size for one meal, and my husband could take one along in his lunch box. Is there any possibility of meat spread being packed in these little tins again soon?

A.—Yes, since the first of the year manufacturers have been permitted to pack meat and poultry sandwich spreads in the small three-ounce containers you speak of. But in order to give packers sufficient time to build up their stocks, sale of these products to the trade was not permitted until April 1st. If your grocer has any of these three-ounce containers of meat and poultry sandwich spread on order, he should be receiving stock shortly.

Q.—I am a returned man and wish to start in business. Do I have to secure a license before I can do this?

A.—Yes. You should make application to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board for a license.

Q.—Are stores allowed to deliver less than $1 worth of merchandise?

A.—After October 30, 1944, each retailer was allowed to establish his own value limitations on deliveries and time limits on returns, refunds and exchanges. Retail deliveries are still limited to one per day per route.

Q.—Now that shot guns and rifles do not need to be registered, is it necessary to have a permit to purchase ammunition?

A.—Yes, permits are to be obtained in the same manner as formerly. No ammunition must be given out without an essentially certificate approved by the local ration board.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumer's News" or the Blue Book in which you keep track of your ceiling prices, mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

SMILE AWHILE

Traffic Officer: "What's the matter with you?"

Driver: "I'm well, thanks, but my engine's dead."

"I'm sorry that I haven't a nickel," said the lady as she handed the car conductor a ten dollar bill.

"Don't worry, lady, you're going to have 199 of 'em in a couple of minutes."

Father: "I'm busy. Be short."

Son: "I will, I am."

Police Chief: "What? You mean to say this fellow choked a woman to death in a cabaret in front of 200 people and nobody interfered?"

Captain: "Yes, Chief. Everybody thought they were dancing."

"You walked all the way?" exclaimed the acquaintance. "I'd do you get along?"

"Oh, just rate," the old man replied. "That is, I did it I came to that sign out there. Show Down to Twenty-five Miles Per Hour. That kept me back some."

Professor: "What is a comet?"

Joe Frat: "A star with a tail."

Professor: "Good, so far. Now, name one."

J. Frat: "Mickey Mouse."

Fisherman: "It was that long. Never saw such a fish in my life."

Friend: "That I can believe!"

"Are caterpillars good to eat?" asked Johnny at the dinner table.

"No," said his father, "What makes you ask a question like that when we are eating?"

"You had one on your lettuce, but it's gone now."

Teacher: "If you had $10 in one pocket and $15 in another, what would you do?"

Pupil: "Somewhere else's trousers."

"Doctor: "Ask the accident victim what his name is, so we can notify his family."

Bit Of History

When Garibaldi Said Italy Would Stand By Britain

In April 1854, Garibaldi, commanding the ship Commonwealth, put in to Tyne-side to take in coal.

When it was known that the Commonwealth had anchored at Tyne-mouth, a public subscription was organized to present her commander with a sword and a telescope, and a deputation was appointed to make the presentation on board the vessel.

Writing on April 12 to Mr. Joseph Cowen, chairman of the deputation, Garibaldi used these words: "England is a great and powerful nation, independent of auxiliary aid, foremost in human progress, enemy to despotism, the only safe refuge of the exile, the friend of the oppressed; but if ever England, your native country, should be circumstanced as to require the help of an ally, cannot be that Italy who would not step forward with me in her defence." Leeds Yorkshire Post.

THE IGLOO—

"The Igloo" came up each day with the rationers. To the men who took part in the Eskimo Scheme recently completed in Northern Saskatchewan, it was as welcome as food, and being neither in edible nor in liquid form that might have been surprising. "The Igloo" was a news sheet, written from base headquarters in Prince Albert and sent out each day to the men on "scheme". Its purpose was chiefly to inform, to keep the "Eskimos" in the know on world events, on activities around the base headquarters and on what their current "Eskimo-ess" among the CWACs was doing to keep herself occupied in their absence. Lt. M. O. D. Logan, St. John, N.B., was editor-in-chief of the publication. Two other CWACs employed on the editorial staff were Pte. N. M. Cobbe, Limerick, Sask., and Pte. Doris Atwood, Calgary. Meant mainly as a link between the men out on scheme and the base, "The Igloo" was definitely as welcome as the rations with which it arrived. To the CWACs it was their contribution to the "moral department". Unable to take an active part in the Eskimo scheme, it gave them the morale-boosting opportunity their daily news sheet gave them.

MARRIED—

A pretty wedding ceremony was enacted in the church of St. Mary's in the Field in London recently when Pte. Doris Atwood, daughter of Mrs. Alice Littlewood, Foam Lake, Sask., became the bride of Gnr. Perry Bernard Vikanen, son of Bert Vikanen, Beechy, Sask. Pte. Doris Atkinson, Manitoba, Man., and Sgt. Robert Gray, Toronto were attendants. The bride was given in marriage by her cousin Sgt. Miller Howe, Foam Lake. All the bridal party were service unit forms.

CRACK-SHOOTING CWACs—

Rifle shooting popularity has reached an all-time high with members of the C.W.A.C. Overseas and in Canada. Crack marksmen at No. 42 Company, C.W.A.C. in London recently shot their way to victory over a rifle team representing the Ordnance Corps. While the men were still practicing for a vindicating "trigger triumph", the girls went on to vanquish a picked team from the Signal Corps. One of the highest scorers was L-Cpl. Ida Skinner, Winnipeg. Very active rifle clubs have been formed in Montreal and Ottawa with many of the members qualifying for the First Class Badge of the Dominion Marksmen Competition. Major Mary Morrison, Delta Alta., O.C. No. 12 Administrative Unit, Ottawa, is the crack shot of that team. Other high scorers are L-Cpl. Eunice Parker, Minnedosa, Man., Sgt. Gertrude Wurtz, Kelvington, Sask.; Pte. Lucy Cassin, Don Crest, Sask.; Pte. Doris Caldwell, Langdon, Alta.; Pte. June White, Isle Pierre, Sask.

ENLIST—

Several Western girls enlisted in the C.W.A.C. in Regina recently. Included among them were: Jessie Hall, Conquest; Janet Downie, Fielding; Agnes Ness, Eldersley; Lilian Crocker, Lethbridge, Alta.; Mary Mackenzie, Calgary; Mable Anderson, Calgary; Helen Narahaski Dufco; Ida Evans, Spruce House; Deloris Ness, Eldersley; Edna Ored, Spruce House; Ellen Vack—Win. But Aunt Agatha can be persuasive, and Uncle Jack actually tried Postum. "Shiver my timbers if it isn't all right," he said. "It's not like tea and it's like coffee. But it's mighty good just the same." And that night he slept like a baby.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

"THE DESIRED HEAVEN"

How often we look upon God as our last and feeblest resource! We go to Him because we have nowhere else to go. And then we learn that the storms of life have driven us, not upon the rocks but into the desired haven. Geo. Macdonald.

The disappointed man turns his thoughts toward a state of existence where his wisest desires may be fixed with the certainty of faith.—Southey.

It is difficult to make a man miserable while he feels he is worthy of himself and claims kindred to the great God who made him.—Abraham Lincoln.

WHY YOU CANNOT GET CANNED SALMON

Perhaps it would be more correct to say "why you cannot get all the like the farmers of Canada the fishermen set their teeth, buckled into the job improved ways and means, the real inside story of what has happened during the war years and seven million (7 million) cases of British Columbia Packers Ltd., of salmon and herring to Britain and Vancouver for the illustration of the fighting fronts in the three years companioning this item as well as material in it.

It was back in 1941 when the food situation in Great Britain became desperate due largely to "the battle of the Atlantic" that our Canadian Government asked, on behalf of the British Ministry of Food, for all the canned salmon that could be spared and also for a great canned herring production.

The industry did its best, then came the requisition, right after Pearl Harbour, of all the large salmon and herring fishing boats on the Pacific Coasting by the Royal Canadian Navy as an urgent defence measure. You can readily see how this would cripple the industry which on the one hand was being urged to catch and can fish and on the other was having its fishing boats taken away!

One thing is sure, the Canadian fisherman by his efforts has helped materially to feed the soldiers and the people of Britain and in that way contributed to winning the war.

But won't you be glad when you can go into the grocery store again and order Sockeye, Coho or Pink salmon—and get it? The prospect makes my mouth water because I surely love my salmon!

UNITED NATIONS WILL HAVE TO COLLABORATE TO ENSURE LASTING PEACE FOR WORLD

LONDON. Only the continuation of the present close collaboration of the United Nations can ensure peace, said a statement issued at the conclusion of the British Commonwealth conference.

The statement was issued in the name of the delegations from Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India.

It said: "The countries of the British Commonwealth stand ready to play their full part in an international organization for the purpose of preserving international peace and security and promoting human welfare."

We have examined, generally and in detail, the tentative proposals resulting from the Dumbarton Oaks conference, and we have had a valuable exchange of views. We are agreed that the proposals provide the basis for a charter for such an organization, fully recognizing that in certain respects they call for clarification, improvement and expansion.

Each of the countries assembled here will be represented at the San Francisco conference.

Through their representatives it will be the purpose of the peoples of the British Commonwealth in all the continents to work for the establishment of a world order which will be worthy of the immense sacrifices made by our peoples and designed to unite the nations in striving to all men in all the lands economic and social advancement in conditions of freedom, peace and concord.

NO SANCTUARY

Fire Will Not Be Allowed To Harbor War Criminals

LONDON. Prime Minister Churchill implied that he would see to it that no war criminals found sanctuary in neutral fire.

The question arose in the house of commons when Dr. James Laffie, a Presbyterian minister from Belfast, asked the prime minister whether he would "take steps to make sure that no war criminals find sanctuary in any country embraced within the British Commonwealth of Nations."

The written reply from Mr. Churchill was: "Yes sir."

Fire has evaded giving the Allies flat assurances that Axis war criminals would be banned.

The fire government, however, has served notice that anyone who jeopardized the country's neutrality or was undesirable would not be admitted.

TIME EXTENDED

OTTAWA. Time for payment of income tax has been extended from April 30 to Aug. 31, Acting Revenue Minister MacKinnon announced in the commons. He tabled an order-in-council, making the change. Similar action also was taken last year.

SUGGESTION MADE THAT TIME BE GIVEN RETURNED MEN TO THINK ABOUT THEIR FUTURE

REGINA. "In my opinion, any man who has spent five years overseas should have at least six months rest, before deciding what he wants to do. It would take him that long or longer to restore his nervous system to adjust himself to civilian life. In any less time a man is not in the proper frame of mind to make important decisions regarding his return to civil life," said Maj. J. C. Knowles, D.A.G. Military District 12, in an address to members of the Army and Navy Veterans Association here.

Maj. Knowles said he had advocated that returned men in hospital and receiving out-patient treatment, be given pay and allowances until such time as they were in a position to provide for themselves or were receiving a substantial pension. This is now being done, he said. Veterans of this and of the First Great War were the biggest problem this country had to face. He referred in particular to the veteran who joined in 1939 and then was found too old to be sent overseas. Most of these men were transferred to the veterans guard. They are slopping through the mud in all types of weather, guarding German prisoners. When they receive their discharge, a good number of them would be 50 years of age and would receive a few hundred dollars for their service, not because

LOWEST ON RECORD

Statistics Show Only 218 Business Failures in Canada Last Year

OTTAWA.—The Dominion bureau of statistics reported that commercial failures receded last year to the lowest on record, reflecting the "prosperous condition" of industrial enterprise.

Assignments, at 218 were less in 1944 than in any other year since the statistics were first collected shortly after the end of the First Great War. In 1943 there were 314 assignments, while in 1939, last peacetime year, they numbered 1,392.

The greatest number of business fatalities during the period from the end of the last war was shown in 1922, when failures reached 3,925.

EGYPTIAN KING ON BRITISH CRUISER—King Farouk of Egypt is shown on the bridge of the British escort carrier HMS Hunter during his visit to the ship in the Mediterranean recently. With the Royal visitor is Vice-Admiral William G. Tennant, commander in chief of the eastern Mediterranean.

BRITISH MINISTER ON FOOD MISSION—President Roosevelt conferred in Washington with the British ambassador and two members of the British food mission which is surveying the overall problem of feeding and supplying liberated Europe. Here are Col. J. J. Llewellyn, left, British minister of production and Hon. Oliver Lyttelton, minister of food.

UNBUSTABLE BRITON—Prime Minister Winston Churchill, the man who knew all the time this would be the way things would turn out, climbs a heap of debris to inspect a blown up bridge at Wesel, on the east side of the Rhine. Wesel was taken by the first British commando brigade in the opening phase of the present all-out offensive. Mr. Churchill was on hand to see what he called the "big heave" get underway.

SITUATION EASED

Grain Is Now Moving From Western To Eastern Canada

OTTAWA.—A munitions department spokesman said that there was no "crisis" in the movement of grain from western to eastern Canada.

He said latest information indicated that the tight shipping situation had eased a great deal recently and the fact that 95,000,000 bushels of grain now were at the lakehead showed the movement had been considerable.

Transport Controller T. C. Lockwood said at Montreal recently that the grain transportation committee was taking steps to have Canadian freight cars in the United States returned to Canada empty for use in clearing grain from the west.

A SACRED CITY

Name Given To Leningrad By Mrs. Winston Churchill

LONDON. Mrs. Winston Churchill told citizens of Leningrad that she regarded their city as "sacred" because of the lives sacrificed during its siege. The Moscow radio reported.

Mrs. Churchill spoke briefly during a visit to the city and said she and her secretary, Miss Mabel Johnson, hoped to visit Leningrad hospitals.

"Long live Leningrad," she concluded. "Long live friendship between our two countries."

TRUMAN TAKES OATH AS THIRTY-SECOND PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON.—President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, one of the world's "Big Three," died unexpectedly of a cerebral hemorrhage. He was 63.

Death came to the 31st president of the United States in the "Little White House" at Warm Springs, Ga., where he had gone three weeks ago seeking rest and relaxation.

Harry S. Truman of Missouri was sworn in as 32nd president of the United States less than three hours after the President's death.

To Mr. Truman, one-time Missouri county judge, falls the tremendous task of shaping that peace so largely patterned by President Roosevelt.

The scene of the swearing in was the cabinet room in the executive offices of the White House, where for more years than any other president, Mr. Roosevelt had presided.

Mr. Truman read the oath from a slip of white paper. To his left was Mrs. Truman and her daughter.

Mr. Truman shook hands with the group around him, all with solemn faces, many with red eyes. High military and government officials were among those watching.

Then he and his family walked over to the White House for a few moments of seclusion.

As a stunned capital sought to weigh the implications of Mr. Roosevelt's passing, Mr. Truman issued this onetime statement:

"The world may be sure that we will prosecute the war on both fronts, east and west, with all the vigor we possess to a successful conclusion."

A short time earlier Mr. Truman had announced that the United Nations conference would open as scheduled on April 25 to draft a plan for a world organization.

Thus Mr. Truman acted immediately to carry out the twin objectives of winning the war and seeking a lasting peace.

Crowds stood silently outside the White House. Flags on embassies and other public buildings dipped to half mast.

An emergency cabinet meeting was called immediately and arrangements made to elevate Mr. Truman quickly into the presidential job.

The 60-year-old former Missouri county judge took the oath amid epochal world events at a time when Germany is tottering and the Allies are getting ready to throw their full strength at Japan.

Stephen Early, former presidential secretary, told reporters that the new president "wants to say that it will be his effort to carry on as he believes the president would have done, and to that end he has asked the cabinet to stay on with him."

CIVILIAN LOSSES

Casualties In Britain Since War Started Total 146,742

LONDON. Britain has suffered 146,742 civilian casualties, 69,583 killed and 80,159 injured, from enemy air action since the beginning of the war, the air ministry announced.

It may prove to be the final total of civilian casualties. The figures included 792 killed and 1,426 badly injured during March. Since that time no enemy explosives have landed in England.

PLANS BEING CONSIDERED TO GIVE BROADER COVERAGE OF CANADIAN AND WORLD NEWS

TORONTO. Plans to widen coverage of Canadian and world news were outlined by Senator W. A. Buchanan of the Leithbridge Herald in his presidential address to the annual meeting of The Canadian Press.

Broader and more considered stories of events and situations in Canada are planned to meet domestic needs. Senator Buchanan told the newspaper publishers and executives who are members of the news-gathering co-operative.

Senator Buchanan said the CP's successful effort to cover the war abroad and at home outlined another problem, that of covering the peace and the world's rehabilitation.

"To this task and that of reporting the Canadians in the Pacific war, we have already committed ourselves," he said.

The guarantee of objective, impartial news given by The Canadian Press and The Associated Press, co-operative non-profit news services of Canada and the United States is the "single greatest ethical contribution made by this hemisphere to the world at large," Robert McLean of Philadelphia said in an address prepared for a CP annual meeting luncheon.

Mr. McLean, president of AP and publisher of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, lauded the "basic principle" of the two news services.

Discussing the speed of present-day transmission of news, Mr. McLean said this means that the people of a nation have as the basis for their decisions a valid and trustworthy knowledge of events and that the same knowledge is available with minor variations to all.

"Many difficulties exist in nations beset with internal conflicts," he added. "But surely if democratic principles are to grow throughout the world they will thrive best where people exercise their right to know and base their judgments and decisions on an accurate knowledge of events."

Telling the world what Canada, the new leader among the smaller nations, is thinking and doing is the new task of The Canadian Press, said J. A. McNeil, general manager, in his report to the news co-operative's annual meeting.

The wartime test was a preparation for the new demand on the CP as a national news service when interest in Canada increased and both The Associated Press and Reuters, the British agency, turned to CP for aid in covering the Dominion.

The population of the world is estimated to be double what it was in 1900.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Roosevelt—The Humanitarian

The death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt caused a grievous loss to the world last Thursday afternoon. His death was so sudden and so unexpected that millions could not quite comprehend that they were now without the leadership of one of the world's foremost statesmen and a man in whom they had placed all their hopes for a better world.

Historians will write about this great man, a man who will undoubtedly be linked alongside Washington and Lincoln. Despite his aggressive spirit which made him a world leader, Roosevelt always continued to be a humanitarian. His best known efforts are towards those stricken little children who suffered from paralysis and who were trying to get back on the road to health the hard way. He knew their suffering, for he, too, suffered in his youth of paralysis and only his unconquerable courage had overcome physical sickness to bring him to his responsible position in life. He started the March of Dimes for these youngsters so that they might have the best treatment that medical science could offer.

Twice weekly he met the Press on common ground at his now famous press conferences. Here world topics of the days were discussed. In the world of entertainment he was known to scores of professional entertainers who came to love him. His sympathies were always extended to the little men, to whom he came when they were in the grip of depression and fear. He gave them work, a shorter working week, increased wages and better working conditions.

Here was a man whose boundless energy, despite physical handicap, made him one of the truly great men of our time, a man of foresight and a man filled to overflowing with human kindness.

Our Victory Loan Record

Coleman should be plenty proud of its Victory Loan achievements in the past seven loans. However, despite these records, there is always room for improvement.

For instance, last loan we sold 845 wage earners bonds out of a total of approximately 1,050. It's good, but as all can see, there is room for improvement. Our statistics show that we sold 1 in every 3.8 of our population a bond. Records show that Coleman citizens have invested approximately $800,000 of their savings in bonds. This investment brings a total of $2,000 of new money monthly in interest to this community. $2,000 of new money. Plan your bond purchases now, do not wait till the canvasser is knocking at your door.

Still Time For That Band

Despite the urgency of organizing a band to take part in the V-Day celebrations no one appears to be taking the lead. Gen. Eisenhower has stated publicly that there will be no Peace announcement from the Allied Command while there were still strong units of German resistance anywhere in Germany. To us this means that the day-to-day waiting on Peace news flashes has been set back several weeks and that should a local band be organized immediately it has a good chance to get into shape before the V-Day celebrations start.

Cemeteries' Improvements Now Assured

It took only a matter of minutes for council to grant $200 for improvement of local cemeteries this spring and summer, once the subject came up for consideration. All councillors agreed that the cemeteries in their present condition were an eye sore and were badly in need of improvement. They took a step farther and authorized that the cemeteries be listed each year in the budget and a sum allotted for their improvement, thus they would always be brought to the attention of the Parks committee.

To many citizens who are fully aware of the improvements necessary the $200 to them is only a fleabite. However, it is a start and now that improvements are to be undertaken every year results should be forthcoming in a few years.

JOB FOR UNIVERSITY UNDERGRADUATES

About 4,000 temporary summer jobs will be available this year for university undergraduate students in science and engineering courses, it was announced by Arthur McNamara, director of National Selective Service.

Through the wartime bureau of technical personnel and employment and selective service officers, these positions will be available to students who are anxious to gain experience and aid in the war effort during the vacation period. The jobs have been located through a questionnaire sent to employers across Canada.

About 3,000 jobs have already been reported, and another 1,000 are expected by the end of the spring university term. Jobs will be listed at each university, where a faculty member will be designated to act as liaison officer with selective service. Local employment offices will accept applications and arrange for work permits.

Labor department officials point out that engineering and science students can play an important part in helping solve the manpower shortage which is current in war plants and essential civilian industries throughout the country, and at the same time secure practical experience towards their profession.

Rev. T. M. Murray And Mrs. Murray Wed Forty Years

Informal Reception Tuesday Evening, April 3, Marks Happy Event.

Friends all over Canada and in the Old Land will be interested in the anniversary being celebrated in Owen Sound on Tuesday, April 3, by Rev. Thomas Menzies Murray and Mrs. Murray. On their fortieth wedding anniversary, they will receive the congratulations and good wishes of this wide circle of friends. They are holding a reception at their home in this city during the evening of the anniversary day for their friends.

Rev. T. M. Murray was born in Auchtermuchty, Scotland, the second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Murray, and his gracious and lovely wife was Margaret Gould Stewart, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart. She was born in Ceres, Scotland. They were married in the city of Winnipeg on April 3 by the Rev. Donald Munroe, of Point Douglas Presbyterian church. There are four children, one son and three daughters, Victor, of Toronto; Jean, Mrs. C. J. Shier, of Markdale; Rachel, Mrs. Kenneth Hilt, and Mary, Mrs. Gordon Kirby, of Hamilton; and three grandchildren, Masters Tommy and Dickie Murray, of Toronto, and Murray Kirby, of Hamilton.

Rev. Mr. Murray spent ten years as a minister in the Crows' Nest Pass in Southern Alberta, residing for one year at Frank and nine years at Coleman. In 1915, Mr. Murray was called to Verschoyle in Oxford County, where they lived until 1922, when they went to Powasson for ten and a half years. This past year Mr. Murray had the honor and joy of assisting in the ceremony of burning the mortgage on the Powasson church, built when he was the minister. In July, 1933, they came to Kilguth United church, where Mr. Murray's ministry was completed. They have been residents of Owen Sound for some years.

In Division Street church, where Mr. and Mrs. Murray are members, and in the Church of Christ (Disciples) where he is the interim pastor, both are greatly loved. Mr. Murray's chief interest in life is people, and he has given the finest service to his church and to the communities in which he has lived in every worthwhile cause. As Presbyterian chairman and secretary, Mr. Murray is conversant with the life of the United church throughout this district and is known in every church for his wise counsel and Christian life. Mrs. Murray's interest has been chiefly in her home and family and in the organizations of her husband's various charges, particularly the Women's Missionary Society, in which she has always been an active member and officer.

No minister has ever won the love and respect of more people of varying creeds and churches as this Scottish-bred man, whose life has been given in service to Canadian individuals and families through a long life of ministry. In his eloquent and scholarly preaching, his ministry of prayer and in the visitation of the homes, Mr. Murray is outstanding. The most sincere good wishes of the entire community are offered Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Murray on this happy occasion.

Pte. Irene Brennan Returns Home

Pte Irene Brennan arrived at the week end from overseas, where she had spent several months. She was met at Calgary on Friday by her mother and arrived home on Saturday.

Despite the fact that she met with a serious accident while crossing the Atlantic enroute to Britain and lay seriously injured in a British hospital, Irene is now fully recovered and is in the best of health.

She had great praise for the Britisher who has been magnificent under the terrific strain of war during these past years. While in Britain she met Oliver Barrington, Tex. Larrimore, H-Major J. T. Dunbar, Dan Daly and Joe Bodisch, all of whom she described as being in the best of health and spirits.

She found the Scottish people most friendly and visited Edinburgh Castle and Holyrood Palace.

She has to report back to Calgary on Friday.

Laura Kobovka,
Sec. Junior Red Cross,
Central School, Grade 5,
Coleman, Alberta.

Dear Laura: Many thanks for the lovely gifts which you sent to us recently. It is certainly very thoughtful of you children to want to help make the children at the Junior Red Cross hospital happy with your donation.

Peter Voykin must be very handy with tools when he was able to make such a lovely wagon and it was kind of his father to assist him. The crippled boys will have many an enjoyable time playing with it. The doll, doll clothes, and pastry set which Evelyn Brown gave and the coloring book which Shirley Wood donated will please the girls at the Junior Red Cross hospital very much and of course all the children like valentines and they are most grateful for these gifts. They ask that we thank all those who assisted in making this kind donation possible.

There are 58 patients in the hospital just now, some who have recently come in and others who have been with us for several years. They are all making progress, although many of the treatments take a long while, but you never see an unsmiling face or a child who does not have a cheerful word. If you went up on the third floor of the hospital into the gymnasium you would see the equipment which is so important in helping them get well. There are rope swings in which they pull themselves about, ladders for climbing, rowing machines, finger boards, etc. Nurses specially trained in this work help the children to get the most benefit from their exercises. Then on another floor is the therapeutic bath, or more commonly called the "tank," where the patients lie in water of certain regulated temperatures to receive massage and special exercising. This tank, which takes up about half the room, has rounded corners and is somewhat in the shape of a large T. We think the patients must have great fun taking this part of their treatment for there would be plenty of room to splash in such a huge tub.

Best wishes to the pupils of Coleman Central School, Grade 5, for health and happiness as they carry on their good work.

Yours sincerely,
D. H. Tomlinson,
Commissioner,
Alberta Division, CRCS.

"Since You Went Away" at Palace

We saw an epic. It was David O. Selznick's magnificent "Since You Went Away," a United Artists' release. It was a film so touching, so full of the gentle humor and grace of America that no person in the entire audience could remain long unmoved. As Ben Hecht, who saw the film in Hollywood, said, "Since You Went Away" rings out like a song of America."

Not "spectacular," not full of the hammy fireworks which are so often passed off as substitution for real art, "Since You Went Away" in its simple, almost humble story of an American family reaches a crest of power which few other films for all the pyrotechnics they may have employed could attain.

Like all Selznick's productions, "Since You Went Away" is one of those films which combines good plot with good acting. The producer has starred seven of Hollywood's choicest talents—Claudette

Colbert, Joseph Cotten, Jennifer Jones, Shirley Temple, Monty Woolley, Lionel Barrymore and Robert Walker. But never does one get that thankless feeling that here is an "all-star" cast "emoting." Under John Cromwell's direction, the virtual galaxy of stars becomes an integrated group of people feeling and undergoing all those simple human things that all people at home must experience in time of war.

Mr. Selznick has placed his story of the Hiltons in a community and a home which is as familiar as the papers on the living room floor on Sundays. Like the rest of the film special care has been taken in the choice and decoration of the sets and the Hilton home is a place we predict will soon be as generally familiar as Tara of "Gone With the Wind" and Manderlay of "Rebecca," other domiciles which Selznick has immortalized.

This would be an incomplete review without a special section for the cast. Certainly the finest representative of Hollywood talent to appear together on one screen in an integrated story for a long time, the seven stars who carry the main weight of the film generate no feeling of "crowding." They weave through the story in so easy and relaxed a manner that one forgets that here is a much publicized "million dollar" cast and regards them merely as the neighbors next door with whom one can sympathize and smile.

Perhaps the most difficult role rests with Claudette Colbert, who is in turn father confessor, guardian angel, mother—and father of the Hilton household. It is on her that the problems of two growing girls rest most heavily and it is from her that the family and its friends take courage and high hope.

Jennifer Jones, Selznick's brilliant young discovery who accomplished an almost unheard of achievement by winning the Academy Award with her first starring appearance in the "Song of Bernadette," now proves herself a versatile and sympathetic actress with a complete reversal from the portrayal of the sainted French maiden in the creation of "Jane Hilton," a spirited American girl.

"Since You Went Away" marks Shirley Temple's real return to the screen. And a welcome sight it was to see the "little cryltop" all grown up and turning in a bang-up performance. Shirley, still the effervescent personality that zoomed into the cinema heavens, is tempered with a smooth "know-how" which makes for big league acting. Shirley has come through for her fans with this film. She's living proof that a champ can come back!

You must have gathered by now that we found Selznick's "Since You Went Away" just about the greatest thing to hit the screen. That is absolutely true. As we watched the film we had the feeling that it was possible, for all its immensity, to put America on the screen. This David O. Selznick has accomplished. For this privilege we say to the producer and to the cast, "Thanks for creating a memory."

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A very successful shower was held Friday, April 13, in the Catholic hall for Mrs. Marjorie Hoyle, recently arrived from overseas.

About 80 guests were present and the evening was spent with whist and bingo. Whist winners were Mrs. S. Krzywy, Mrs. E. Kroli and Mrs. A. Balloch. Bingo prizes were won by Miss B. Kroli, Mrs.

T. Price and Mrs. F. F. Weir. After a dainty lunch the bride was the recipient of many lovely and useful gifts. In a few well chosen words she expressed the hope that every girl coming to Canada would be as happy as she has been.

Solos were rendered by Mrs. Wm. Martland and Miss Peggy McDonald, the evening closing with the singing of "She's a jolly good fellow."

Hostesses were Mesdames J. Kostelnik, V. Brown, H. Gate, C. Parsons, L. Lloyd, D. Fredlund, A. Jones, J. Townsend, J. Seaman, J. McDonald, N. Laithwaite, M. Martland, and the Misses Mary McIntyre, Helen Dibblee and Peggy McDonald.

Macleod Federal Candidates Remain Quiet

Expect Political Pot to Start Simmering Within Next Week or Two.

Now that the master politician Mackenzie King has at last come out into the open and announced the date for the next federal election, it can be taken for granted that within the next few weeks the Macleod federal constituency political pot will begin to simmer and show a little life.

June 11 is the voting day. It coincided with the day set for the Ontario election. Premier Drew, of Ontario, has now brought the Ontario election forward one week to June 4.

Candidates already in the ring are Stanley Wyatt, of Clarendon, for the Progressive-Conservative party; William Arland, of Blairmore, Labor-Progressive party, and A. Woback, of Barons, for the OCF party.

E. G. Hansell, present member of Macleod constituency, is expected back this week from Ottawa. It is not expected that the Social Crediters will hold their nomination meeting until seeding in the farming district has been completed.

It is revealed from questioning some of the Social Credit supporters that Mr. Hansell is the logical choice to once again carry the Social Credit banner into the forthcoming election.

Stanley Wyatt was in the Pass a few weeks ago contacting Pass supporters and lining up plans in general. However, no publicity has been issued by any party to date regarding forthcoming meetings.

The Journal acknowledges with thanks renewal subscription received during the week from Mrs. George Duffield, jr., of Mercoal. She sends her best regards to all. Young Canadians Enthuse Over New Sports Coaching Idea

"Sports College" Has Strong Membership in West

(By Lyall Dawkins)

Encouraging to young Canadians with ideas is the story of "Sports College". The brain child of Lloyd Percival, once known as "Canada's Most Versatile Athlete", and a young man who has plugged the dream of a physical fitness and athletic direction program for 14 years, "Sports College", sponsored by the National Council of the Y.M.C.A. and brought to Canadian boys from coast to coast without cost to its members has made an amazing growth since it began eight months ago. Already there are over 60,000 boys from Victoria, B.C., to the Atlantic coast enrolled as members. During the recent contest that had as its winner, Keith Cruickshank of Calgary, Alta., over 34,000 entries were received. Another westerner, Bob Leadingham of Indian Head, Sask., was runner-up.

"Sports College", is a project that embraces a radio broadcast every Saturday afternoon over a network of 36 Canadian stations; there are local College clubs and booklets and bulletins are issued on how to play various games and train for all the popular Canadian track and field events.

A membership identification card and handsome sweater crest are sent free when a boy makes application for his "Sports College", registration card.

Members come, as was said, from all parts of the Dominion, although the western provinces have so far contributed the greatest number per capita. "Boys in cities and boys on farms have one thing in common," Head Coach Percival says, "they all want to be competent performers in one or more branches of sport and they realize perhaps more than their elders dream, the vital importance to themselves as individuals and to their country as a national entity, of physical fitness."

All coaching on the air and in the printed matter sent to members stresses the Head Coach's firm conviction that the first step in athletic achievement is perfect physical condition. This sound basis for his instructional talks has resulted not only in Coach Percival's definite success with College members, individually and in teams but in the whole hearted expressions of approval of leading athletic and boy's work organizations.

Approval has been forthcoming too from other countries whose representatives have approached the sponsor of "Sports College", with request to assist with the organization of similar youth athletic direction and physical fitness projects, in Russia, the United States and South America.

The Head Coach and the Y.M.C.A. feel that, given proper training and beginning it when the boys and girls of Canada are first taking an interest in organized play, will enable athletes from the Dominion to hold their own in international competitions of the future. The College is recognized by the Canadian National Fitness Council and recommended by it to all schools and church groups in a recently passed resolution.

Any individual boy or group of boys interested in knowing more about "Sports College", can secure full information by writing to "Sports College", P.O. Box 99, Toronto, Ont. There are no fees involved, so write today.

During his visit to Toronto to see the Stanley Cup play-offs, Keith Cruickshank, winner in the Y.M.C.A. "Sports College" contest, met members of the Maple Leaf team at one of their morning work-outs. Here he is pictured with a friend and fellow townsman, Leaf net mender Frank McCool, who learned to play hockey on the same neighborhood rinks from which Keith recently graduated to become a star performer on the "Calgary Stampede", top team in the junior league in that city.

Between periods in the famous over-time game in the Stanley Cup play-offs, Keith Cruickshank of Calgary (right), winner, and Bob Leadingham of Indian Head, runner-up, in the recent Dominion wide contest staged by the Y.M.C.A. "Sports College" met some of the great names in hockey annals with some interested spectators. Here they are pictured with Sgt. Apps, who captained the Leafs to Cup victory in the 1941-42 season.

Advice Is Good

Canada Should Be Topic For Many Young Canadian Authors

Young Canadian authors should write about Canada, Dorothy Duncan, winner of the "Governor-General's" 1944 literary award for creative non-fiction, said at Montreal.

The author of "Partner in Three Worlds", had the following advice to give to budding Canadian writers: "The last decade has seen an awakening of Canadian literature which has roused interest in other countries, the result that today the world is eager to hear about Canada through the medium of young Canadian authors."

About Numbers

Another Curious And Interesting Combination Has Been Discovered

The Toronto Telegram reports that one of its readers has discovered a curious number. It is 142,857. Multiply it by 2, 3, 4, 5 or 6 and no new digits will be found in the totals. When it is multiplied by 7 the result is 999,999 which is smack up against the million. From time to time persons who have the time and the inclination find curious and interesting combinations of numbers. In fact some have gone so far as to proclaim a pseudo-science which they call numerology. — Fort William Times-Journal. 2616

Survivors Rescued

After Being Adrift On The Sea For Thirty-Two Days

The last of 142 survivors of an American Liberty ship torpedoed in the Indian Ocean by an enemy submarine have landed at a West Australian port after being adrift 32 days.

They were rescued by a British aircraft carrier after they had just eaten their last provisions. The other survivors had been picked up previously by other searchers.

Nothing was known of the sinking for four days because the ships wireless was dead. After the torpedoing late at night and in heavy seas the survivors got away in four lifeboats and six rafts. Thirty-three were killed when the torpedo hit.

Five Australian flyers were killed in the search when their plane crashed. The search covered thousands of square miles and was carried out by units of the United States and British Navy and Allied merchant ships.

Love Finds A Way

Wife Got Around Naval Regulations In Meeting Her Husband

Love found a way to get around naval regulations at the C.N.R. station in Winnipeg when members of the crew of H.M.C.S. "Prince David", formerly of the Canadian National Fleet, arrived on leave.

It was a happy reunion for Petty Officer John Trevor when he was greeted by his wife, but the better-half was just plain Mrs. John Trevor, instead of Sub-Lieutenant Trevor, which is her naval rank. Had she appeared at the station in uniform as a Sub-Lieutenant, she would not have been able to embrace her husband nor accord him the welcome she would want to give after 15 months separation due to his lower rank.

The former C.N. luxury liner played an important part in the invasion of France and has seen action in waters far distant from the English Channel where she participated in D-Day operations. The "Prince David" is now undergoing refitting.

Britain Makes Miniature Radio Parts For Use In Far East

Radio loudspeakers scarcely bigger than pocket watches are among parts of miniature sets specially made in Britain for the Far Eastern war.

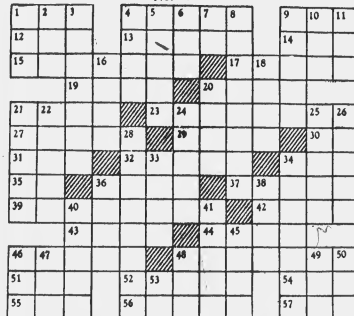

Many of the parts have to be "tropicalized" to withstand the climatic effects of monsoons, jungles, and swamps. Some have been developed only after extensive tests in "artificial jungles" built in sealed rooms in United Kingdom radio factories.

The range of miniature components was specially designed to economize weight so that complete apparatus can be transported easily by air or on the backs of pack mules. The wire used in some of these components is so fine as to be almost invisible to the naked eye; it has to be examined through a microscope.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

In The Moonlight

By REGINA WAGNER

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"Myrtle in bed?" Papa asked cheerfully, kicking off his old house slippers. Mama nodded vaguely, her eyes shifting away from her husband. Papa didn't notice it. He was pulling the sheet up about his head in the special way he liked. "She oughta be in bed early the night before her wedding," he stated contentedly. "Lucky girl, marrying Sam! I tell you he's the best catch in town."

Mama, in front of the mirror, began to brush her short grayish hair. After each stroke, she paused, frightened eyes staring into the glass and listened. She was afraid to tell Papa that she had left Myrtle on the porch for a minute just a bare minute and when she returned, Myrtle was not there. Mama was terrified. Myrtle might have gone off with that Ted Andrews whom Papa hated so. And on the night before her wedding to Sam Menruff, Papa's eyes grew more and more frightened.

Papa called impatiently. "Ain't you ever coming to bed?"

Mama, thus rebuked, pulled her slipperless apron over her head and hurried through her other preparations. She went obediently to bed, but she was aware of every sound in the street below.

Where was Myrtle?

Mama thought suddenly of the beautiful white wedding dress hanging in Myrtle's room. Mama remembered how Myrtle had looked when the dress was done at last, and put on. All white and soft and clinging. It was. Molded by Myrtle's own soft, slim shapeliness. Pretty Myrtle! Mama had drawn her breath quickly when she had seen Myrtle in that dress. And yet there had been something. Something—lacking. Nonsense, of course. Just Mama's silly notions. The dress was so beautiful. Like a ray of moon light.

Mama stirred nervously. Where was Myrtle?

"If she stays away much longer, I'll have to wake Papa and tell him," Mama moaned. Papa was snoring peacefully now. And he did hate Ted Andrews so! Now, Sam! There was a boy! Still young, well, you couldn't call him old. What if he was fifteen years older than Myrtle? She was a baby; she needed a man with some sense to take care of her. Besides, look what Sam had, Papa said.

Mama nuzzed herself on an elbow. A sound at last down there on the engine that wheezed and came to a sudden stop. That was Ted Andrews, all right. Mama found that she had been breathing hard—just as she did when she tried to run upstairs.

She relaxed. Well, it was all right now. Myrtle wouldn't have had Ted bring her back if she hadn't meant to do what her papa wanted her to. Everybody did as Papa wanted. Mama always had. For that matter, she wanted to see Myrtle well fixed.

Drive out ACHES

himself. Riding around in that big car of Sam's instead of Ted's rickety old flivver, wearing the fine clothes that Sam could give her. Of course Mama didn't hate Ted the way Papa did. That just showed, of course, that she wasn't as wise as he. The front door was being opened gently. Mama listened contentedly to the familiar little squeak. Then there was silence complete silence. Myrtle was saying good-bye to Ted Andrews. Funny that Myrtle liked him so much. Guess she was too much like her mama. Not smart like Papa.

Mama strained her ears. Once she heard a board creak, and once the stairs jumped. But that wasn't Myrtle. "Why doesn't Myrtle close that door and come upstairs?"

Mama slipped from the bed very quietly and crept to the window. There was Ted's car, disreputable even in the beautiful white light of the moonbeams, and Ted was standing beside it. Or was that Ted? It was Ted and Myrtle pressed close in each other's arms. Mama felt their emotion, knew the sadness of it. Myrtle saying good-bye to Ted in the moonlight. Tomorrow she would marry Sam Menruff. That was right, Papa said so.

Mama watched them draw apart—so slowly, so reluctantly—and Mama saw what happened next. Saw Ted catch up Myrtle, swing her easily into the old car, jump in himself! Mama exclaimed with the surprise of it.

Papa was awake in an instant. "What's the matter?" he cried.

He saw Mama at the window, and in a trice he was beside her. The sight of the old car starting up in the street below told him at once. With an angry yell, he jumped for his clothes. Mama ran out of the room. Her bare feet pattered down the stairs.

"I'll get them!" Papa was shouting. "I'll bring them back! The young fools!"

The little rug at the foot of the stairs moved under Mama as she stepped upon it, and automatically she stooped to straighten it as she heard Papa start down.

"Move! Get out of my way!" Papa was yelling as he rounded the turn.

Papa would surely bring Myrtle back. Mama was as certain of it as she was that tomorrow would dawn. Mama moved then, just in time to get out of Papa's way. And as she stepped aside, she gave the little rug a jerk—just enough to send Papa sprawling to the floor, shouting and clutching his back just enough to be sure that he wouldn't be bringing Myrtle back tonight after all.

May Change Order

In Reference To Freezing Teachers On Their Job

A labor department spokesman said that it looks probable that the three-year-old order freezing teachers in their occupations will be lifted Sept. 1.

The spokesman said the proposal has been under consideration by the national selective service advisory council and the federal government has communicated with the provincial ministers of education, most of whom favored the suggestion.

"No final decision has been reached but it looks probable that the freeze will be lifted Sept. 1," he said.

The order, put into effect three years ago because of a shortage of teachers, prevents them from accepting any employment other than agriculture.

BIRTHPLACE OF R.A.F.

Cranwell, the Sandhurst of the Air where the R.A.F. was founded, has just marked its 25th anniversary. From a small group of army huts it has grown until it covers more than six square miles in Lincolnshire, England.

Have No Rank

Chaplains In Navy Equal To Men They Talk With

W. L. Clark in the Windsor Star, says: Chaplains in the Navy have no rank and wear no rank badges. The padres are in naval uniforms and the cut of the clothes resembles the garb of a naval officer.

The idea of having no rank is that a naval chaplain always ranks equally with the man to whom he is talking. If the padre is with an admiral, then he ranks with the admiral; and if the padre is with a rating, he ranks with the rating.

This plan of the Navy saves the men in the ranks the embarrassment that comes from talking to a commissioned officer. In the Air Force or the Army, it is sometimes necessary to have a non-commissioned officer act as an intermediary before a private can talk to God's representative. It may seem silly to be uninitiated, but some of the chaplains with commissioned rank are as snooty as a second lieutenant who has just put up his one pip.

Some day, perhaps, the Army and Air Force will follow the example of the Senior Service and have the chaplains rank with all, no matter whether it be the lowest or highest.

Draw Extra Pay

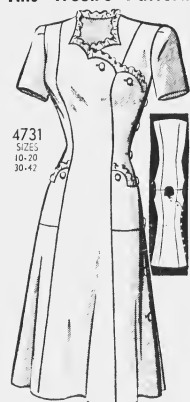

Stokers And Cooks On Uganda Work Under Hard Conditions

Because of the tropical heat in which they have to work, stokers and cooks on H.M.C.S. Uganda will draw extra pay for their service in the Pacific.

When the Uganda, Canada's first cruiser, crossed the equator on her 20,000-mile trip to Australian waters from a United States navy yard, the temperature in the engine rooms was about 114 degrees. Under the deck head it was 140.

The medical staff under Surgeon Cmdr. Ken Thompson of Edmonton, will have to deal with such nuisances as skin rashes. Salt tablets will be administered as well as yellow anti-malaria pills.

TUBERCULOSIS OF THE BOVINE TYPE AND UNDAULANT FEVER

TUBERCULOSIS OF THE BOVINE TYPE AND UNDAULANT FEVER

Tuberculosis of childhood, excepting the pulmonary type, is caused by contaminated milk. A careful survey of 352 tuberculous children in one United States city showed that 25 per cent suffered from the bovine type. The source of infection in these cases was raw (unpasteurized) milk.

Some years after the introduction of compulsory milk pasteurization in Toronto, a survey revealed that the only children in hospital suffering from tuberculosis of the bovine type were from outside the city.

Most favored body points for tuberculous germs from raw milk are the lymph gland of the intestines and the neck and bones. Tuberculosis of bones and joints causes many crippling deformities.

A common disease in cattle is infectious abortion from germs called brucella. Goats, pigs and cows can be infected with these germs which rarely attack children but which cause undulant fever in adults.

Undulant fever is contracted by drinking raw milk from diseased cows or through contact with infected animals or by handling infected meat. It also may be spread through cheese, butter and buttermilk. There are three strains of brucella with the one of big origin the most virulent. When undulant fever causes death, this strain is generally to blame. Undulant fever derived from cow's milk is the mildest and death rarely occurs from this type.

However, cows sometimes are infected with a virulent strain that originated elsewhere and this strain has been found in cow's milk.

Shows Great Presence Of Mind When School Caught On Fire

Attention should be drawn to a young gentleman of whom the world may count on hearing more. Master Peter Thompson McClintock, a pupil at the preparatory school near Exeter where a fire, involving four fatalities, took place last month. Young McClintock, who was aged eleven and had been at the school just four days when the fire occurred, jumped from a roof on to some mattresses in his pyjamas. He then set off to call the fire brigade. No one told him to go, so he stated at the inquest on Monday, he just thought it would be a good idea. It was blowing a gale and snowing hard, but even in pyjamas he kept warm by running (vires acquiescit cuncto). The first house he stopped at had no telephone, so he went on to the next building he saw. That turned out to be the fire station, so his work was done. London Spectator.

1 cup shortening
1/2 cup corn syrup
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs, separated
2 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup sour milk
1 1/2 cups small raisins
1 cup chopped walnuts
Cream shortening, gradually add corn syrup and 1/2 cup brown sugar. Add well beaten egg yolks. Sift flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Add alternately with sour milk to creamed mixture. Add raisins and chopped nuts; stir well. Fold in well beaten egg whites to which has been added the remaining 1/2 cup brown sugar. Pour into loaf pan 9" x 5" x 3" oiled with mazola. Bake in moderate oven. Frost with caramel icing.

COANUT MACAROONS

1 cup white sugar
1 tablespoon cold water
3 tablespoons corn syrup
2 eggs whites, stiffly beaten
3 cups coconut
2 tablespoons corn starch
Put sugar, water and corn syrup into a small pot and dissolved, then boil without stirring until mixture spins a fine thread. To stiffly beaten egg whites add corn starch, beat again until mixture peaks. Pour nut syrup slowly over egg whites, beating constantly until very fluffy. Add coconut, beat. Drop by spoonfuls on cookie sheet oiled with mazola. Bake in slow oven. Yield 36 macaroons.

How The Food Parcels Sent Weekly Saved Many Lives

That the prisoner of war food parcels despatched overseas weekly by the Canadian Red Cross "unquestionably saved thousands of lives" is the expressed opinion of a recently repatriated war correspondent who was taken prisoner in Italy in 1942.

Laury Allen, famous Associated Press writer and U.S. Correspondent British Mediterranean Fleet, in a letter to the Canadian Red Cross states unequivocally that it was the Red Cross food parcels "that meant the difference between life and death while I was imprisoned in Italy."

Expressing his gratitude after his return home on the Swedish liner "Gripsholm," Mr. Allen writes that "Canadian parcels came to myself, British, American and Canadian lives months before any American ones reached us, and since the Italian diet was extremely scanty and of poor quality, I think you know why I and others said nightly: 'Thank God for the Canadian Cross.'"

Prey Of Racketeers

Even The Smart Business Man Will Get Fooled

Women with money are often the natural prey of racketeers who are handing phony stocks and shady deals, but you'd be surprised at the way even smart businessmen get fooled. When they are, they don't tell about it and so even their closest friends don't know, but it is almost unbelievable that any man who has the brains to make money will invest in something which has nothing more to recommend it than a salesman's patter and promises. Bulletin of the Crown Trust Co.

MAY BE SALVAGED

The London Daily Express reports the good news that among the big British liners that may be salvaged is the Canadian Pacific crack ship Empress of Britain (42,000 tons). The vessel was torpedoed and sunk in the Atlantic ocean west of Ireland.

Good Eating for the Lunch Boxes and so easy to mix!

ALL-BRAN RAISIN BREAD

1 egg
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup molasses
1 cup sour milk or buttermilk
2 tablespoons melted shortening
1 cup chopped raisins

1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 1/2 cups soda
1/2 cup chopped raisins

Beat egg well. Add sugar, molasses, milk, shortening (melted and cooled) and All-Bran; mix well; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and soda together; add to first mixture with raisins; stir only until flour disappears. Bake in greased loaf pan lined with waxed paper in moderate oven (350° F.) 1 1/2 hours. Extra good and so different! This rich brown loaf has that heavenly nut-like flavor only Kellogg's All-Bran can give... and that marvelously soft, light All-Bran texture. Perfect for the lunch box! Scarcely a crumb without nourishment and keeps fresh. Clip the recipe now and get Kellogg's All-Bran from your grocer today. 2 convenient sizes. Made by Kellogg, London, Canada. Helps you keep regular—naturally!
